MESSAGE

Dear Member,

November at the club unfolded with a pace and vibrancy that truly marks the beginning of our peak season. From championship-level golf to festive workshops, cultural evenings and seasonal food experiences, the month brought together many joys that make this time of the year so special at DLF Golf & Country Club.

We began with the much-awaited launch of DLF Golf League Season 4. The energy this year made it clear, we were gearing up for our most expansive season yet. The tournament committee set the tone right away with their unmistakable humour as they introduced the teams and captains, followed by a spectacular laser-led jersey reveal. Shaan's performance set the evening surging with excitement, bringing a refined energy that only he can command. The atmosphere at the club mirrored the essence of the league itself - strategic, fun and sprinkled with banter as well as brilliance. With this year's league being an ode to the Ryder's Cup format, Let's Ryde! is officially underway and I trust you have been tracking the league's progress as it crosses its midpoint.

We also welcomed back one of the club's most anticipated events - The Omega Trophy. It serves as an annual gathering for the golfing community offering Indian amateurs the chance to compete for recognition within OMEGA's wider international golf family. The prize presentation was elevated by the presence of Bollywood icon and superstar Abhishek Bachchan, joined by sports enthusiast and anchor - Mandira Bedi. Congratulations to the winners - Surya Uday Bedi, Arjun Howhar and our member, Karan Chaudhri for finishing 3rd overall. The spot prizes carried their own excitement with Navnit Nakra, Rajesh Bakshi, Honey Lamba, Pranjal Bajaj and Astha Mittal taking home the honours.

On the course front, our GCM team deserves sincere kudos for their outstanding work. Overseeding both courses during one of the busiest golfing periods of the year is no easy feat, but thanks to their dedication, the project was completed seamlessly. Germination is already underway and winter playing conditions will continue to improve. You will also notice the horticultural enhancements - native grasses, palms and flowering species thoughtfully introduced throughout the year. I hope you have been enjoying these quiet touches that elevate the beauty of your fairways.

At the Sports Complex, the Men's Open Squash Winter Series concluded with a thrilling finale. My congratulations to winner - Sahaj Bishnoi for claiming the top spot and Medhansh Sharma for runners up finish.

On the cultural front, the club had the honour of hosting Dastan-e-Madhubala performed by Fouzia Dastango, India's first female Dastangoi artist. Her evocative narration captured the grace, mystery, and brilliance of Madhubala, holding the audience in quiet awe. With the gentle November chill, warm food and comforting drinks, the evening carried a nostalgic charm many of us will remember for a long time.

Children's Day brought one of my favourite evenings of the year. Held under the floodlights of the Arnold Palmer Course, the Parent-Child Night Golf Tournament once again showed why this event is so loved. Watching the duos strategize and share the course together was wonderful to see. The evening that followed eased into a celebration of family, sport and the memories that give this event its charm.

On the culinary front, November's highlight was undoubtedly Chor Bizarre's Kashmiri Wazwan, curated by Chef Srinivasulu. From Rogan Josh and Yakhni to the much-loved Guchhi Pulao, the feast brought the flavours of Kashmir to The Pavilion with an authenticity that many of you appreciated. Sunday brunches are back and it is great to see so many of you choosing to wrap up your weekend with us.

As we step into festivities of December, I invite you to join us for the celebrations ahead. We will be hosting our first-ever Yuletide Dinner - an elegant Christmas Eve gathering filled with old-world charm that pairs fine food with classic Christmas tunes. We believe it will be a new addition to the club's cherished seasonal experiences. This will be followed by our much-loved Christmas Carnival, a favourite for many of our members. Bookings opened in the first week of December and I encourage you to reserve early. We also look forward to ushering in the New Year with the joy and magic that light up this holiday spirit at the club.

Thank you, as always for bringing such warmth and joy to everything we create here.

TERRARIUM TALES

We hosted a delightful Terrarium workshop for both kids and adults, offering a hands-on experience in creating miniature green worlds. The session saw enthusiastic participation as attendees learned the art of layering soil, stones, moss and plants to craft their own self-sustaining ecosystems in glass bowls.

Guided by an expert, participants explored the basics of plant care, design aesthetics, and the importance of sustainability, making it an educational outing. Children enjoyed getting their hands dirty while adults embraced the calming, therapeutic process of building their personalised terrariums. TOASTY DELIGHTS

Taste of Kashmir

This November, Chef Srinivasulu A. treated our members to the iconic flavours of Chor Bizarre's legendary Kashmiri Wazwan. From the comforting Haaq and fragrant Yakhni to the rich Rogan Josh and indulgent Guchhi Pulao, each dish was a true celebration of Kashmiri heritage. The experience was perfectly rounded off with silky Phirni and aromatic Kahwa, soul-warming delights that felt just right for the crisp November weather.

Skinny Cocktails

The Skinny Cocktails pop-up introduced a thoughtfully curated selection of beverages for our flavour-loving, calorie-conscious members - who came with balance on their minds and left with just one too many extra pours. In the end, calories were counted, but cocktails were definitely not.

Let's Nacho

National Nacho Day 2025 was marked with a lively food truck celebration, bringing freshly loaded nachos straight to our members for a flavourful, on-the-go indulgence. It was crunchy, cheesy and a spicy chaos - honestly, we wouldn't have it any other way.

PROKINESIA PERSPECTIVE

The Importance of Proprioception in Preventing Injuries

Proprioception is the body's ability to sense its position, movement, and balance without needing to look. In simple words, it is your body awareness your brain constantly tracking where your joints and muscles are. This hidden system keeps you balanced while walking, protects your ankles on uneven surfaces, and helps you react quickly when you slip or trip.

When proprioception becomes weak, the body reacts slowly. This increases the chance of ankle sprains, knee twists, shoulder strains, and even repeated injuries. Many people think muscles are weak, but often the problem is delayed communication between the brain and the body.

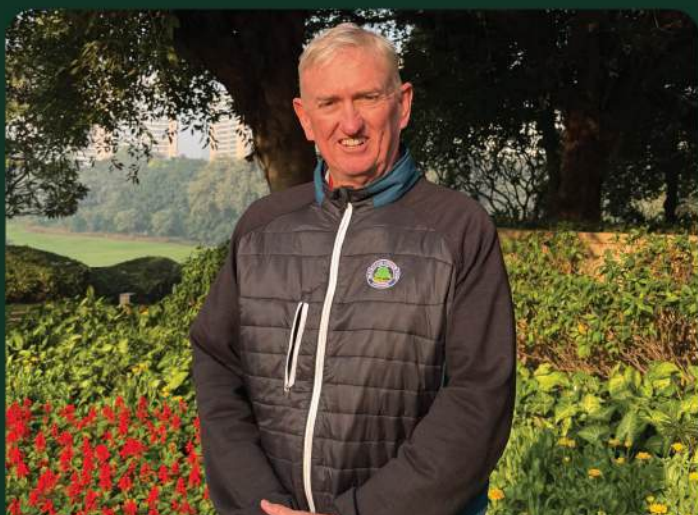

Dr. Mahima Kansal (PT)
Prokinesia Clinic

Proprioception becomes especially important:

- After the age of 30, as balance and reaction time begin to decline.
- After injuries, as joint awareness reduces and re-injury risk increases.
- After 50 years, due to slowed reflexes and reduced joint sensitivity.

Simple exercises like single-leg standing, cushion balance, heel-to-toe walking, mini squats, and resistance band walking can significantly improve proprioception. Just 10 minutes of daily practice can strengthen brain-muscle coordination and improve joint stability.

TURF TALK

We have now completed the overseeding on both the courses and starting to see good signs of germination over the courses.

We will now establish the newly emerging Perennial Rye grass over the coming weeks then start to reduce the height of cut on the grass and consolidate the playing surfaces. The overseeding of the courses ensures good definition and playing conditions over the winter months. Just a gentle reminder that all golf carts will remain on designated cart paths during this period.
